What Is Impact of Sewer Use Charge on Homeowner?

By DICK OSBORN

Will Central Contra Costa residents pay a sewer use charge?

And what is a sewer use charge?

If they do pay it, will it cost them more in terms of dollars and cents per year than they are now paying in taxes?

These are all questions being debated by the board of directors of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District and the Charge d'affaires Gerry Horstkotte, engineer-manager for the district.

No official action has been taken on this issue, which has suddenly appeared as controversial on the local scene.

THE SEWER USE charge has been envisioned by Horstkotte as a means of establishing equality in the amounts paid by homeowners who are living in the sanitary district and who may or may not be connected to the sewer system.

It is also a method, he explained, of establishing a consistent financial policy for the district—one which would permit the directors to know approximately the amount in revenues they would receive as well as being able to forecast a planned financial program.

If such a sewer use tax were enacted by the board, what would it cost the average homeowner and what would it do to his tax rate?

According to Horstkotte, who presented the matter to the board last night after The Sun had gone to press, the following would result:

COST PER MONTH to each person connected to the sewer lines would lie somewhere between 75 cents and $1.50 per month, to be billed quarterly.

But, Horstkotte said, the operating portion of the tax rate would drop to approximately 15 per cent of what it is now.

This is the way the philosophy of a sewer use charge is explained by Horstkotte.

The present financing of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District depends upon two sources of revenue: The ad valorem tax rate and the capital investment . . . that is, revenue obtained from connection fees and annexation charges.

The ordinance calling for collection of connection charges was enacted in 1952. The fees collected in this manner sufficed to take care of expansion of the district sufficient to care for the homes which connected.

IN OTHER WORDS, it was a matter of keeping up with the growth, but not of expanding or improving the facilities, explained Horstkotte.

However, since that time, a bond issue has been passed. Thus the present homeowner who pays a connection fee and also pays on the bond retirement is, in effect, paying twice for the same thing—expansion of the district facilities.

But similarly, the man who is still using his septic tank, and is not connected to the facilities, or the man who owns unimproved land, is paying for expansion of the district when he is not using its facilities.

THERE IS NO question, said Horstkotte, that a portion of the ultimate cost should be borne by each property owner in the district through the payment of taxes. This is simply because of the fact that these people are in the district and their property values are improved by the improvement of the district.

However, Horstkotte said, "We have determined through long study that the unconnected property owner should pay 15 per cent of the running expense tax rate. Similarly, the man using the sewers should pick up the remaining 85 per cent.

This sort of equality cannot be established through the simple levying of an ad valorem tax rate, Horstkotte said.

Therefore the sewer use charge has been formulated as a means of establishing an equality of payment among those who use the sewers and those who do not, but still retaining a factor to compensate for value contributed by the district to the owner who is located within its boundaries and receives some benefit from the simple fact that the district exists.

NOW, ASSUMING that the sewer use charge would amount to something between 75 cents and $1.50 per month for the homeowner, what would it mean to the tax bill?

The portion of the tax rate which goes for operating, or running, expense, would be cut to about 15 per cent of the present rate. The operating portion of

'Exclusion' Before Transit Board

Let's Get That Pool for Miramonte Kids, Adults Too

AN EDITORIAL

Miramonte High School boys and girls should have an "Olympic" swimming pool—just as Acalanes High and Las Lomas High students do.

But whether this worthy objective is achieved will depend on whether the fund drive planned for February is successful.

EVERYTHING DEPENDS on the Orindans who believe it is worth a few dollars apiece to provide "year 'round swimming and diving education, competition and recreation for high school students and the community at large, including adults . . . and children."

The goal for Orindans is $25,000.

This means that $5 must be donated for every man, woman and child in Orinda. There are a lot of "fund drives" these days but none which are as close to home for all Orindans as is the swimming pool.

The community is paying less than half the cost.

Acalanes High School District has a miscellaneous building fund which will provide the balance of the needed $55,000 to $60,000.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE men and women who are taking time from their other activities to spearhead the pool drive!

They have decided that solicitations by students at Miramonte and Pine Grove should begin early next month, and a three-day concentrated drive will be held by volunteers in Orinda, Moraga and Canyon on February 27 and 28 and March 1.

The effort originated by the Miramonte Parents Club five months ago has progressed to the point where preliminary plans are already in existence.

The Orinda clubs know this is worth the effort. Supporters include members of the Parents Club, Orinda Junior Chamber, Orinda Association, Matador Boosters Club, Rotary Club, Glorietta Parents Club board, Sleepy Hollow Parents Club board and so forth.

Thorough campaigning this year will mean good swimming next year!

Grand Jury Investigation Of Fire District Planned

The Contra Costa County Grand Jury will investigate administrative practices of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District, according to V. Craig Bull, chairman of the grand jury's powerful Law Enforcement Committee.

The Sun exposed last week that fire district taxpayers had been paying from $9 to $12 per month over the past five years for classified advertising listings of Marsh Creek Lodge in the Contra Costa Telephone Directory.

THE LODGE is owned by Fire District Commissioner and Chief Gerould L. Gill.

Bull stated that he was "shocked" to hear that fire district emergency telephone numbers are the same as private business enterprises.

"We are going into the matter and will present it to the full grand jury at the February 4 meeting," Bull said.

"Of course, we will need a report from District Attorney John Nejedly, who is our legal counsel," Bull continued.

EDWARD VALENTINO, grand jury foreman was in Las Vegas at a Lions Club convention when The Sun tried to reach him. He was to return yesterday, after The Sun had gone to press.

In further investigations, The Sun learned:

- That Gill's wife is paid as a radio operator at the Marsh Creek Lodge station of the district, but there is no radio at the Lodge.

GEORGE BURTON, radio department chief for the county, stated that when the radio location was moved from Marsh Creek Springs one year ago, it was found that Marsh Creek Lodge would not be an adequate location for a radio transmitter and receiver.

It was decided, Burton stated, not to install a radio at the Marsh Creek location.

- Gill's son, Dick, is paid $330 a month as a captain and on some months, County Auditor Howard McNamer's records show, Gill's other son Don has been paid $165 for services.

Don Gill has a full time job other than his fire department employment.

- Fire department equipment which is stationed on ranches and farms has been found to have flat tires, dead batteries and has in some cases not been maintained so that it is in top mechanical condtiion for emergencies.

RANCHERS WHERE equipment is stationed, are paid $50 a month to maintain the equipment, i.e., run engines so that batteries won't go dead and insure tires are properly inflated etc.

- Fire department equipment has been used for spraying weeds, operating thrashing equipment and other uses not necessary to the fighting of fires nor normally included in the general functions of a fire protection district.

Immediate Change in Phone Practice Demanded

An immediate change in telephone practices in the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District has been ordered by County Auditor-Controller Howard McNamer, he revealed to The Sun in an interview Tuesday.

McNamer stated that steps would be taken by his office to order the commissioners of the fire protection district, which includes Moraga and San Ramon and border the Lafayette, Orinda, Central and Mt. Diablo Fire Districts, to revamp their telephone payment and listing policies.

THE SUN recently learned and exposed last week, that fire district taxpayers have been paying for classified advertising listings in the "Yellow Pages" of the telephone directory for Marsh Creek Lodge which is owned and operated by Gerould L. Gill, commissioner and fire chief of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District.

John A. Nejedly, Contra Costa District Attorney, has asked of McNamer that a complete breakdown of monies spent by the district for telephone listings be turned over to his office and a complete explanation of administrative practices be prepared.

Meanwhile The Sun learned that the emergency telephone number of the San Ramon Fire Station of the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District is also the same as a private business.

The telephone number VE 7-2529 is the same telephone number as the San Ramon Garage.

McNamer pointed out that D. J. Fereira, a fireman, paid $300 a month by the district as a Fireman-Mechanic, is the owner of the San Ramon Garage.

Nejedly pointed out that although he felt the district suffered from very loose administrative practice, he was more interested in the fact that it is possible for a person to try and make a fire report and find the lines at both Marsh Creek Lodge and San Ramon Garage to be tied up by business calls having nothing to do with fire district business.

In his request, Nejedly asked McNamer what the exact cost of placing exclusive fire district lines into the district's fire stations would be.

NEJEDLY STATED that he would issue a complete statement on East Contra Costa Fire Protection District as soon as he studies McNamer's report.

Contra Costa County Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen, second district, Lafayette, stated that he would hold any statement until a report on fire districts in the county is prepared by Joseph Connery of the County Administrator's Office.

Connery stated that he had observed some discrepancies in the operation of the district which he would handle in detail in his report to the supervisors.

Mrs. Winthers To Head Moraga Heart Fund Drive

Mrs. Edward Winthers, Heart Sunday chairman for Moraga, announced that seven captains have been appointed to lead volunteers in the Heart Sunday drive of February 15.

This is the first separate Heart Sunday drive in Moraga. In Previous years, this area has been included in the Orinda campaign.

Captains who will assist Mrs. Winthers in appointing and briefing volunteers for the two-hour Heart Sunday drive are Mesdames A. S. Koop, 220 Rheem Boulevard; K. H. McCampbell, 267 Rheem Boulevard; J. P. Schafer, 24 Donald Drive; K. Humphreys, 2 Risa Drive; P. R. Wand, 2 Pueblo Court; Adin Wilson, 120 Draeger Drive, and Robert M. Hamann, Redwood Highway, Canyon.

Mid-Year Reports To Be Issued By County Grand Jury

Two of the Contra Costa Grand Jury's Committees will submit mid-year reports to "insure that action is taken on recommendations before the jury goes out of office," according to V. Craig Bull and Edward Mertens, grand jury members.

Mertens is chairman of the County Government Committee and Bull Chairman of the Law Enforcement Committee.

The Sun was informed by the two committee chairmen that their reports would probably be submitted to the entire grand jury at the February 4 meeting of the jury in Martinez.

MERTENS STATED he would withhold the contents of his report until after the jury approves his recommendations.

Bull stated he would also announce his committee's recommendations after they are considered by the entire group.

Political observers, in view of the recent recommendation by the grand jury that the superintendent of schools become appointive, noted that an appointive sheriff recommendation might also be included in the mid year report of the two committees.

Other speculations pointed out that the grand jury may well be studying considerations of past grand jury the county supervisor be made a full time job with coommensurate salary increases.

NOW THAT THE district attorney's job may soon become a full time position if legislation recently introduced is passed by the state legislature, pay increases for the district attorney may be under consideration by the grand jury, sources close to the committee heads disclosed.

These pay increases, if recommended and approved by the state legislature would not benefit the incumbents.

State law declares that a pay increase will only be given to an elected official and some department heads at the start of a term of office.

FOR EXAMPLE, James Kenny, newy elected supervisors from the First District and Thomas Coll, newly elected supervisors from the Third District both receive $100 per month more than Supervisors, Mel. F. Nielsen, Second District, Lafayette; W. G. Buchanan, Fourth District., Pittsburg and Joe Silva, Fifth District, Brentwood.

If reelected the latter three supervisors will also get a $100 a month pay increase which was approved by the state legislature in 1957.

Meetings of the Grand Jury are not open to the pubic, according to Edward Valentino, grand jury foreman.

Special Meeting Will Consider This Area

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District will be held February 4 to put final approval on proposed legislation that would exclude Central Contra Costa County from voting on a future transit bond issue.

Directors indicated at a meeting this week that they favored establishment of a special service zone within the district rather than legislation that would abruptly slice Central Contra Costa County from the district boundaries entirely.

Residents living only within the special service zone would vote on a future bond issue, and only these residents would be served by the district. Other areas in the district could easily annex to the special service zone at a later time.

John Nejedly, district attorney for Contra Costa County, and Harry Morrison, secretary of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association, appeared at the meeting to encourage early agreement on the proposed exclusion amendments to the transit district law.

At least one more meeting between representatives of Contra Costa County and the transit district was decided upon before the transit board of directors considers the matter February 4.

Both Nejedly and John R. Worthington, general manager of the district, indicated that mutual agreement on the legislation was not far off.

In other business, Robert K. Barber of Kensington was re-elected president of the board and William J. Bettencourt renamed vice president.

Newly elected directors were administered the oath of office by Judge Thomas W. Caldecott of the Alameda County Superior Court. All are incumbents except William H. Coburn, Jr., of Berkeley, who represents Central Contra Costa County on the board. Coburn succeeded Clair MacLeod who did not seek re-election.

In a special report, Barber disclosed that Key System suffered another loss in riders, with more than 10 per cent of its transbay passengers abandoning public transit for the private automobile during 1958. Riders on East Bay local lines declined about 8 per cent.

Barber cited the figures as evidence that a "substantial number of people are dissatisfied with the service now offered by existing public transit."

"An entirely new approach to encourage transit riding is essential if East Bay streets and arterials are not to become almost hopelessly clogged in the next few years ahead," he said.

Barber pointed out that district engineers have predicted that the district's basic transit plan—its improved services and new, superior equipment—can reverse this downward trend in East Bay transit riding.

"The practical and most immediate remedy in helping to solve this dilemma is for the transit district to get into operation just as soon as possible," he said.

Prize Offered for Most Items in 'Misc. for Sale'

A fast head start on that annual "spring cleaning" makes the whole process easier, and The Sun is offering a $10 cash prize to the person who starts fastest.

The prize will go to the person who puts the most items in a single "miscellaneous for sale" classified ad in The Sun.

The "miscellaneous for sale" classification is one of the most widely read of the entire Sun classified section, and each week thousands of items change hands profitably as a result of The Sun's coverage of the central county.

THERE ARE a lot of things laying about the house—in the closets, garage and in corners which are no longer wanted, but which would be snapped up by others at a good price, if they only kenew of their existence.

There is no good reason to throw things away, or let them go to pot when they can be sold quickly—in a couple of days—to people who are each week scanning The Sun's columns.

The "February clearance" contest will continue until February 24, when the deadiine is 10 a.m.

Ads placed on that last day will go into the Sun Shopping News on the next day, and into all four of the regular Sun subscription newspapers on the Friday of that week.

THE WINNER will be announced a few days later.

The "5-in-1" threatment is given to all Sun classifieds, and the results are amazing.

The single minimum price is $1.60 for 14 words or less. The deadline each week is Tuesday at 10 a.m., but Monday is a good day to call YE 4-5000 or AT 4-4444.

Now is the time to clean up the house! It's a profitable pastime!

In an interview with The Sun, Survey Director Norris Pope said that 2000 homes were visited.

The Sun was first in popularity among local papers, he said. However, the Oakland Tribune, with headquarters in Oakland, is mentioned most often of all newspapers circulated in the area, he added.

AFS Students Are Picked At Miramonte High

Eight outstanding students from Miramonte High School have been chosen to represent their school as candidates for the American Field Service International Scholarship Program.

Final selection of one or two from this group will be made by the AFS Committee Headquarters in New York.

Listed alphabetically, those selected for the summer program are David Dail, Jeffrey Neighbor, Sally Spott and Linda Williams; for the school program, Michele Angelo, Carol Knudsen, Suzanne Lindsay and Robert Newman.

The American Field Service now maintains two programs for students from the United States; the summer program and the school program.

The summer program began in 1950 when nine teenagers from the U.S. spent the summer in France with French families. They were invited by French returnees (those who had spent a year in the United States under AFS sponsorship).

These returnees wished to give American students an experience similar to theirs and to repay in part some of the hospitality and kindness they had received during their year here.

To make it a reciprocal program, yet one which would involve the whole community and maintain standards of selection, AFS offered the opportunity to American students in schools which had taken a foreign AFS student for the year. The program has grown steadily until in 1958 there were 834 students in 23 countries.

The school program started in the fall of 1957 when 46 students from the United States went to 12 countries for five months, living with a family there and attending school. This number increased to 76 in the fall of 1958. Linda Lancione is now in France under this program and is expected home soon.

Chamber of Commerce Wins Name Recognition

Orinda will be listed as "Orinda" and not "Orinda Corners" on Greyhound bus schedules when new timetables are printed, according to information received from the company by Orinda Chamber of Commerce Secretary Clarence Betz.

Betz made the announcement at this week's meeting of the Chamber's Board of Directors held at Casa Orinda. John Ogden presided at the meeting.

OGDEN REPORTED that for the present the parking area located behind a service station at the end of Orinda Way is adequate to serve the 125 commuters using Greyhound transportation here.

Greyhound's decision to change the name on its new schedules stemmed from a letter sent to the company by John McKirihan on behalf of the Commuter's Association informing them of the name status here.

Bud Tanner, of the East Bay Municipal Utility District, reported that the Briones Dam definitely will be located near the intersection of Bear Creek Road and Dam Road.

Bids for construction of the reservoir will be called for within the next month, he said. The reservior, designed by Kaiser Engineering, will hold 18 to 20 billion gallons of water.

Tanner said that construction should begin by April of 1960 and that the project will require two years to complete.

Tudor Report Going to Committee

Year Long Study Reveals Multitude of Road Needs

Contra Costa's long awaited "Tudor Report" on freeways, expressways and major streets will be turned over by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors to the Contra Costa Highway Advisory Committee for study and recommendations.

Committee Chairman Mel F. Nielsen, supervisor, second district, Lafayette, informed The Sun that the committee will meet in the near future to begin its study of the $166,000 report which has been underway for over a year.

NIELSEN STATED that the highway advisory committee after a first meeting on the report will turn it over to its own technical advisory committee composed of the county public works department and city engineers in Contra Costa and public works departments in the cities of the county.

The county highway advisory committee is made up of county, civic, industrial and commercial leaders to assist the public works department and the county supervisors in final recommendations concerning the Tudor report.

Political observers claim that if the recommendations on the county's road needs are adopted by the supervisors a multi-million dollar county road bond election is in the offing.

THE REPORT, according to Ralph Tudor, head of the nationally known engineering firm, claims the county will need nearly one half billion dollars in road monies by 1980.

At least eight methods were used by the Tudor firm to arrive at the recommendations for ultimate county road needs.

Among the data collected and analyzed were road inventories, origin and destination studies, traffic counts, accident records, population records and projections, motor vehicle registration figures, transit reports and schedules, local planning studies, street planning guides, special project studies, construction cost figures and roadway design standards.

THE ORIGIN AND destination survey was conducted by interviews and post card questionnaires sent to all registered owners of vehicles in the county.

For example, one chart in the Tudor report shows that at present there are 24,174 cars per day which originate from the general Walnut Creek area. In 1980, according to the report, there will be some 65,750 cars originating from this same area.

At present, in Lafayette, there are 9800 cars originating, in 1980, there will be 24,470 automobiles using county roads.

Orinda now has 3532 cars going to and from its unincorporated area. In 1980 there will be 14,555.

THE MORAGA, ORINDA, Lafayette area is projected in the report to have by 1980 a popuation of some 100,000.

Moraga at present has 2272 cars per day going in and out of the area. By 1980 this same area will have 26,895 cars per day.

The Pleasant Hill area, for purposes of the study, is divided into two sectors. At present in the southerly sector of Pleasant Hill, generally bounded by Geary Boulevard, Oak Park Boulevard, Taylor Boulevard and Walnut Creek channel there are 24,869 cars going in and out of the area. By 1980 there will only be approximately 2000 more trips.

The northern section of Pleasant Hill, which is bounded generally by Golf Links Road, Taylor Boulevard, Walnut Creek channel and Oak Park Boulevard has 26,148 trips daily, and, according to the report, will have 64,724 cars by 1980.

HERE'S HOW MANY cars some of the central county roads will be carrying in 1980, according to the Tudor Report:

The full freeway from the Broadway Tunnel to Walnut Creek will have 124,000 cars at the tunnel and 24,000 cars at Boulevard Way in Walnut Creek; San Pablo Freeway will carry 11,000 at Bear Creek Road to 21,000 at Orinda; Bollinger Boulevard expressway way will carry 32,000 cars from to Orinda; Burton-Alamo will carry another 13,000 autos; Pleasant Hill Bypass (Taylor Boulevard) will bring 12,000 to Sanko Road and Contra Costa Highway from Lafayette.

The Pleasant Hill Freeway will bring 59,000 cars from Lafayette to Geary Road; Las Nueces Freeway will carry 32,000 cars from Pleasant Hill to Walnut Creek and the Sanko Freeway (Taylor Boulevard) will carry 15,000 cars from Pleasant Hill to Concord.

THE COMPLETE REPORT is 100 pages on 11 by 16 sheets. It contains a number of aerial mosaics projecting proposed routes over already existing freeways, expressways and streets.

The summation of the report by Tudor expains that by 1963 the county will need $69,020,000 for roads and in 1980 another $185,955,000.

The total figure for the fulfillment of all recommendations in the Tudor report is $487,830,000.

You Can Dial Martinez Now

You may now dial several cities that were not dialable last week, Telephone Manager H. C. Greenhalgh said today.

Martinez, which itself just began to dial on January 17 at 11:01 p.m., is the nearest point. The new telephone numbers in Martinez all start with the prefix ACademy 8. Since Martinez is in your own area, all that is necessary to do to reach there is to dial the telephone number, Greenhalgh added.

The other cities now available to direct distance dialing are Seattle, Washington (area code 206 and Portland, Maine (area code 207).

Lombardy Branch Will Sponsor Bridge Lessons

One of the first projects of the year for Lombardy Branch, Children's Hospital of the East Bay, will be a series of bridge lessons open to the public.

This is the fourth year that this program will be conducted by Mrs. Hazel Files and held at the Orinda Community Church.

Mrs. Harry Peck, bridge chairman, CL 4-3820, has announced that the first lessons will be held February 16 for two groups: Beginners, 12:30-2 p.m., and Intermediate and Play of Hand, 2:30-5 p.m. The series will include 10 lessons for $10 for a period of 10 weeks.

Mrs. Arthur Lundblad, newly elected chairman, will announce her new assistants at the Wednesday meeting at the home of Mrs. Doris Moylan in Orinda.

These chairmanships include the following: Vice president, Mrs. Arthur Comerford; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Downs; recording secretary, Mrs. Wayne Bentley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas Howard; membership chairman, Mrs. Edward Laws.

Bridge lessons, Mrs. Harry Peck; bridge marathon, Mrs. Richard Kendall; publicity, Mrs. William McGuire; rummage, Mrs. Alex Poulsen; calendars, Mrs. Thomas Connolly; bambino, Mrs. Phipps Rasmussen; remembrance, Mrs. Mark Smith and spring luncheon, Mrs. W. O. Ecklund.

In addition there were plans finalized for the "fun" party for Branch members and their husbands to be held at the George Merriam home on Saturday, January 24.

Youth Concerts Start Sunday At Las Lomas

The Central Contra Costa Youth Concerts will begin the 1959 series with the world famous San Francisco Symphony Orchestra at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, at Las Lomas High School auditorium, Walnut Creek.

The San Francisco Symphony will play under the direction of the brilliant youth conductor-commentator, Earl Murray.

Board members said they appreciate the efforts of many people in the community who worked with them to make the concerts possible.

The board has the following: President Mrs. Charles F. B. Price Jr., Vice President Mrs. Rowland Barrett, Recording Secretary Mrs. Robert N. Rowe, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Warren Ronneberg, Treasurer Mario Ganio.

Director of Public Relations Mrs. Paul Jacobus, Concert Director Douglas Spencer, Ticket Chairman Mrs. Tudor Jones Jr., Publicity Chairman Mrs. John H. Gillan, Music Teacher Consultant Frederick Freeman. School Advisory members Gordon Gibson and Berniece Woolridge.

Flood Priority Warning Given

Owners of flood-threatened property received a second warning from the Board of Supervisors that they will have second priority after public highways, bridges and buildings if a third flood should occur here this year.

A written policy, covering sandbag operations and setting priorities for the use of county workers, equipment and materials was adopted by the board this week.

The supervisors explained that efforts to protect individual private residences during 1955 and 1958 flooding hampered the county's efforts to prevent flooding of larger areas.

Bank Courses Underway

Spring classes of the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Institute of Banking started Monday in Room 3A of the Diablo Valley Junior College. They are standard courses in Effective Speaking. Instructor is Sherwood Knight of the Mt. Diablo Junior College.

Commuters! Watch for 'One-Way!'

Pubic Works Director Victor W. Sauer, and Captain Russ Magill of the California Highway Patrol, announced today that starting Monday the El Nido Ranch Road in Lafayette, between Upper Happy Valley Road and Sunnybrook Drive, will become an eastbound, one-way street between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. on weekdays.

At all other times, normal two-way traffic operations will be permitted.

Making El Nido Ranch Road one way in the morning has become necessary, according to Magill, to prevent added congestion on the freeway. Commuters have been leaving the freeway at the Upper Happy Valley Road off-ramp, proceeding along the El Nido Ranch Road to Upper Happy Valley Road, and then returning to the freeway.

Captain Magill stated that this traffic control is necessary to benefit the great majority of motorists and has the wholehearted support of commuters and other interested organizations.

Sauer added that when the freeway between Lafayette and Orinda is completed next December the one-way traffic operation on El Nido Ranch Road will be discontinued and traffic permitted to operate in both directions at all times.

A regular quarterly dividend of 45 cents per share was declared on Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association Association capital stock by the bank's board of directors meeting in San Francisco.

The dividend, payable February 27 to shareholders of record February 6, is at the annual rate of $1.80 per share.

Youth Concerts Is 'Sell-Out"; First Is Sunday

A compete sell-out of tickets for the 1959 season Central Contra Costa Youth Concerts series was reported this week by Mrs. Margaret Price, president of the organization.

About 1700 tickets have been sold, compared to about 1550 last year.

She said, "We would like to sell more tickets, but don't feel it would be fair to those who have already purchased tickets."

The concerts are held in the Las Lomas High School auditorium. The first concert in the series of three and a bonus concert will be the San Francisco Symphony, this Sunday, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Incumbent Hall Seeks Re-Election To HS Post

Will C. Hall of 1363 Reliez Valley Road, Lafayette, has filed for election to the Acalanes High School District board of trustees, it was announced.

Hall is an incumbent. The election will be held May 19.

Filing deadline is April 17 for all school districts in the county except the Richmond City District, which operates under a charter and has biennial elections.

Three posts will be filled on the Contra Costa County Board of Education—those now held by Samuel Bradbard of Pleasant Hill, chairman; Elvo Travalini of El Sobrante and R. L. Partriquin of Pittsburg.

One board member of the Contra Costa Junior College District is to be elected, in Ward V. The term of Fred R. Abbott of Brentwood is expiring.

Nejedly Bill Before State Legislature

A bill authorized by District Attorney John Nejedly designed to ban private practice by the District Attorney of Contra Costa County was introduced in the State Legislature this week by Assemblyman S. C. "Brick" Masterson.

Nejedly drafted the bill during last spring's election campaign when the D.A.'s private practice was a major issue. The then District Attorney Francis Collins had drawn fire from ex-Governor Goodwin Knight during his tenure when legislation granting Collins a pay raise was passed.

Knight referred to Collins as a "part-time D.A." due to his extensive private practice.

Nejedly's bill also proposes a no private practice proviso be placed on application forms for prospective Deputy Attornies making application before the Civil Service Commission.

Development Class Planned

A one afternoon a week class at Diablo Valley College of particular interest to women was announced today by Assistant Dean of Instruction Verle Henstrand, who is in charge of the program for part-time students.

Personal Development, a Tuesday afternoon class, 2 to 4 p.m., will be taught by Miss Wilma Wright starting February 3 in Room 203 of the Library Building.

What Will Be Impact Of Sewer Use Charge?

the tax rate represents about 3[illegible] cents of the present tax rate. The remainder goes for bond retirement. The former portion, Horstkotte said, to about six cents. The total tax rate then would be about 40 cents instead of the present 68½ cents.

Present connection and annexation charges go into the sewer construction fund. No other revenues are available for this purpose.

HOWEVER, THE revenues developed by annexation and connection fees are not sufficient to pay for the ultimate sewer construction envisioned by the Brown and Caldwell study. The difference is made up by use of tax monies.

Horstkotte pointed out that if the sewer use charge is implemented, the connection charge will be reduced to a nominal standard fee, but that the annexation charge will be increased.

He pointed out that from 1954 to 1958, the funds derived from annexation charges amounted to between 16 and 30 per cent of the construction monies available, exclusive of tax funds.

If this present program is carried out, he said, the connection fee could be dropped from the present norm of $150 to approximately $50 and the annexation fee could be increased from the present approximate $200 per acre to $500 per acre.

Discussing connection charges, Horstkotte pointed out that when the district was established connection fees varied . . . there was no set fee paid by individual or commercial prpoerty owners to connect to the sewer system.

WHEN ORDINANCE 22 was passed in 1955, Local Improvement Districts 1 through 23 were exempted from paying any connection fees. In 1957, a survey showed that 80 per cent of these original sanitary district residents in the original improvement districts had connected to the sewers, without paying a connection fee, as provided under Ordinance 22.

The board then adopted Ordinance 29, which provided that everyone connecting after that date would pay a connection fee, with the stipulation that the residents of the original improvement district would have six months in which to connect without the charge. After that time, they would pay the connection fee, just as would any other residents of the district.

Horstkotte noted that any user who has paid a connection charge, at any time, would be granted seven and a half years credit on the sewer use charge, if it is enacted . . . the credit dating from the time the owner connected to the sewer system.

Thus, if you were connected to the sewers in January of 1955, you would not pay a sewer use charge until September of 1962. New connectors will pay a reduced connection charge, but will start paying a sewer use charge immediately.

HORSTKOTTE said there would be no problem in implementing the sewer use charge. It would cost about $23,000 to set up the necessary equipment, he said, and about five cents per bill. Collection would be no problem because if a bill becomes delinquent there are provisions for putting a lien on the property and collecting the fee through the tax bill.

Horstkotte noted that there is nothing to stop the board, once it has enacted a sewer use charge and reduced the tax rate, from raising the tax rate at a later date, thereby providing additional revenue for the district.

"But," he commented, "there has been nothing stopping them from re-assessing the district in the past . . . the tax rate would have remained the same but you would have been paying more. You've got to have a certain faith in the integrity of the officials you elect."

PUC Announces Rate Savings To PG&E Users

The California Public Utilities Commission this week authorized reductions in gas and electric rates amounting to $2493 per year for approximately 200 residents in the Orinda area, it was announced by C. Lyn Fox, Commission president. The new rates will be effective on and after February 1, 1959.

The rate reductions are the result of surveys and analyses by PG&E, reviewed by Commission engineers, of customer density in fast-growing areas of the state.

Application for the reductions was made in letter filings by PG&E on January 2, 1959. The surveys were reviewed by Commission engineers and supplemental surveys were made by Commission experts.

Paintings and Interior Design Is Art Subject

Persons interested in the arts are invited to attend the next Diablo Art Association meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center, Civic Drive.

Earl Allen, program chairman, has arranged to have Mrs. Evalyn K. Bell of Walnut Creek speak on "Paintings in Today's Interior Design."

She will analyze the use of pictures in various interiors and will demonstrate with fabric-painting combinations.

MRS. BELL received BA degrees in the decorative arts and speech from the University of California and has had additional specialized training in color and design from San Francisco's Rudolph Schaeffer School of Interior Design.

She has taught interior design, color and aesthetics at the Diablo Valley College. She has appeared as a guest artist on television and has designed a setting for a TV show. She is a local decorator, lecturer and judge on design and color.

Mary Way, president of the art association, said coffee time will be held and members and guests are invited to bring in samples of their work for informal discussion.

Of special interest, Mrs. Ruth Hussey, exhibit chairman, said several DAA members have work on public view. Gertrude Stockton has a portrait of Herb Caen on exhibit at the Society of Western Artists annual de Young Museum show in San Francisco until February 15.

SHE ALSO has a painting on show at the Alamo Medical Center and at Walnut Creek's City Hall as do Doris Whipple, Marie Stevens, and Jack Galvin.

Gigi McLain is exhibiting at Danville's Village Theater. And in Walnut Creek, Comptons has the work of Yvon Herbert.

I See Your Face Before Me

FOGGY SATURDAY in town & a fine day for planting! . . . Young Luther Burbanks running around the Freeway banks, tapping down tiny little trees. And now Fellas, just be sure when you shortcut, you don't trample down the tender things you so tediously planted.

As Helen Drews so earnestly remarked to her Ernest . . . "If it'll only rain now so they can get growing" . . . To which Ernest replied just as earnestly—"And if it DOES, it'll wash 'em right down the drain!" Please, everybody, keep your green thumbs crossed.

Planting Day Faces In The Fog . . . Mary Loveland & her Girl Scouts pondering their assigned area . . . A band of Boy Scouts getting their digging orders from Jay Jacobus.

And maybe by now somebody's removed the rusty tin cans left laying hither on yon hillside . . . A good blast of wind & those sharp-edged cans could cause real trouble—under tires, on car windows.

And an Orchid plant, make it a whole tree of 'em, to patient Ann Pollaczek who saw her planting project through—a hard thing to do sometimes in this dizzy, busy place!

HIGH NOON, LOW FOG . . . The new Shell sign shining through like a Harvest Moon coming up over the Texas prairie . . . The town tucked under a fluffy blanket of fog which finally gave way to Glorious Sunshine.

Up there on the new Church, see way up to the Steeple, an intriquing sign in letters 2-3 ft. high, NOT meatn for people. "Keep off" it says there, meaning you high-flying birds & low-buzzing planes. And in the pink cotton-candy of an eventide, a plane forming a perfect figure "8" in the sky overhead (A amessage to Mama from her Fly boy, perhaps?—"Home for dinner at 8, dear!")

SATURDAY IN TOWN . . . Over at Lucky's, frosted cakes in fine array (don't you always wonder which are pkg. mix ones, which aren't, & wish they'd label 'em so!) being sold by members of the Miramonte Girls' Ensemble fund-raising for their uniforms.

After Xmas, you get it for a Song

And all around the town, girl scouts of Troop No. 198 selling tickets for their "Ten To Two" Comedy Suspense stage show coming to the Miramonte Cafeteria stage tomorrow night, for which tickets are 50c & available at the door, 8 P.M. Here was Marc Jacobs & Cathy Oliphant drumming up sales (Cathy's mother Agnes Oliphant is Their Leader) . . . Over at Hagstrom's Judy Jones & Suzanne Portello explaining the funds would benefit "something special" for the new Library . . . And we heard about Donald Jesse, Pine Grove 7th Grade Teacher who'll direct the drama-doing tomorrow. They says he's Terrific at this sort of thing, The Theater being his particular element.

SALES-MINDED matrons tripped through town raiding the Jan. Sales . . . At the Village Shoe shop, one perturbed lady, having spent an hour rummaging the sale boxes to find her size & then losing a pair of SAME somewhere in the mad melee, cried out "Is it really REALLY worth it?"

In the Village Drug Store (Where the customer is always Wright?), the Post-Xmas gift wrap sale going on . . . & Women who LOVE such things spending HOURS choosing papers & ribbons for NEXT year's Christmas presents. One lady carefully making a big selection & then suddenly dropping the whole works & sailing off soliloquizing—"Oh, I'll probably change my mind by then & want all pink!" Which she probably will . . . But think of the time she'd have saved . . . & now has already wasted!

Having made our own purchases, we promised to hide 'em someplace where in 336 days or so we'll remember to look for them. And don't YOU have that same trouble?

IN V. HAMMONDS, the $5.00 Rack was out. The customers having a ball w/bargains about . . . But for two little chemises. Whom Nobody pleases. (Or vice-versa). They'll do demises on the $5.00 Rack. (Or twice-worsa!) Go For Rummage! Pity the Plight of The Sack!! (???)

First 59er, First Grandparents, & a Gadding Gram

The First Orinda Baby was on the receiving end in more ways than being wrapped up in her receiving banket, rating special gifts from local merchants.

THE FIRST ORINDA FIFTY-NINER being little Denise Marie Rehberg, 7 lbs. 2 oz. born to Bob & Pegg Rehberg of South Trail . . . He is a Boalt Law Student at U.C. Denise is their FIRST family member. Delivering the baby at Herrick Hospital 3 a.m. of a Jan. 2 was Orindan Dr. Donad Minkler.

And not to steal Denise's thunder, but woudja believe that Dr. Minkler of that smile & serene manner & mien was a Cheer Leader back in Lowell High School days? Way Back When. Well, not THAT far back! We remember when & he was good! Yelled ourselves hoarse every time!

And beaming forth through the fog, the smiling faces of that Patio Music Shop pair, Carl & Frankie Schwedhelm who just last week became first-time Grandparents . . . A baby daughter born Jan. 15 to their son Jim (Oakand policeman) & his wife Lurene at Herrick Hospital . . . This makes the Clark Brothers all Great-Uncles, ditto Bob Schwedhelm at Black's . . . and believe it or not, a GREAT-Grandmother out of Mrs. Lee Gilpin, that peppy pleasant petite person in Black's office.

TOURING GRANDMOTHER . . . Pat Loughman's mother, Mrs. William J. Sheils of New Rochelle, NY, who visited w/the Loughman family over the holidays, sets SOME record for being a Grandmother. She can pretty well remember the birthdate of each one of her 43 grandchildren & just in case she forgets now & then, she wears a gentle reminder at her wrist—A bracelet LOADED w/THAT many gold hearts inscribed w/names & birthdates of each grandchild.

While Mrs. Shields was in the bay area, Bud & Pat enjoyed sharing a Tourist's Tour w/her . . . Chinatown, Top o'the Mark (natch), Breakfast overlooking the Bay at Sausaito's Alta Mira, a jaunt to Carmel w/sight-spree stops at Highlands Inn, Mission Ranch, etc.

LAST Sunday, the Loughmans ALL (Bud, Pat, Rowie, Gerry, Bill & Tim) waved Grandmother off on a plane south—where her next stop is a visit w/another of her OWN eight children.

IF YOU WANT to catch a good part of the community-minded of the Community under one (1) roof (& that's a hard thing to do!) try for tickets for next Wed. nite's Man Of The Year Dinner honoring Mr. Library, Perc Brown . . . The affair is set for Steak Dinner at 7 (cocktails at 6:30) at the newly-refurbished Orinda Willows. Tkts. at $4.00 per person can be had by calling Eric Nielsen at CL 4-4284.

The new co-owners of The Willows are William Peluso & Madge Doilo who invite you to inspect the completely new decor—Kind of Modern-Provincial which should just about please everybody around these Modern-Provincial parts.

Assisting in the communion service will be the Reverend Corwin C. Roach, who is serving as locum tenens at St. Paul's. Aileen McGuire Is Married In Recent Ceremony Here

One of the loveliet weddings of the New Year took place recently in Lafayette when Aileen Cecilia McGuire, daughter of the Thomas G. McGuires, became the bride of John Patrick Moran, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Moran of Los Angeles.

The nuptial mass was celebrated at 12 noon in St. Perpetua's Church, Lafayette, with the Rev. John W. Morgan officiating in the presence of relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom. A wedding reception followed the ceremony at the McGuire's beautiful Happy Valley Home.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore the wedding gown of her lifetime friend, Mrs. Howard Ewer (Jeffrey Hardin). It was fashioned of candlelight antique silk, with the neckline, bodice and hemline trimmed in Alencon lace. Her veil of french illusion fingertip length fell from a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white phaelonopsis orchids.

Aileen's two younger sisters, Mary Ann and Cecelia McGuire, were her only attendants. They wore frocks modeled of mint green taffeta. In their hair they wore bandeaus of flat Dior bows. They both carried bouquets of green spider chrysanthemums.

Mrs. McGuire wore a dress of navy blue peau de soire and her corsage was of white cattalya orchids, while Mrs. Moran wore sheer beige wool and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

Serving as best man was Dr. E. Terrence Moran of Sherman Oaks, and those seating the guests were Dennis Moran, another brother; R. Chandler Myers of Los Angeles, and Philip A. Homme of Los Angeles.

A graduate of Dominican Convent and Stanford University, Aileen traveled throughout Europe last summer. Her bridegroom also graduated from Stanford and Stanford Law School.

After a brief honeymoon, the new Mr. and Mrs. Moran will make their home in Visalia where John will enter the practice of law.

Tudor Report To Be Discussed at Meeting

Discussion of Contra Costa County's new highway plan presented Tuesday to the board of supervisors by the Tudor Engineering Firm will be the subject of the Diablo Highway Improvement Federation's annual meeting next Tuesday, Chairman Harold E. Mutnick of Lafayette stated.

The meeting will be held in room 105 at Acalanes High School and will convene at 8 p.m. Mutnick pointed out that the plan, covering highways needs for the next twenty years, should be of interest to everyone since part of the plan contemplates raising more than $69,000,000 to be expended within the next five years to keep road construction on a level with population increases and industrial expansion.

The meeting is open to all who are interested, Mutnick declared, commenting it would be of particular interest to the Federation's membership since the plan envisions ultimate populations of 100,000 each for the Lafayette-Moraga-Orinda and the Alamo-Danville-San Ramon areas.

The Tudor Report will be described by H. H. La Vigne, project engineer for the firm and the occasion will also mark election of officers and directors for the Federation's eighth year of activity in promoting development of state and county roads in Contra Costa County.

Carolyn Demeter to Wed Peter Sheaff in August

An August wedding date has been chosen by Carolyn Demeter and Peter Sheaff, whose engagement was announced early this month.

Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Demeter of Orinda. She is an alumna of Acalanes High school and a June graduate of the University of California.

While at Cal she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Prytanean Society and the California Club.

Peter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Sheaff of Orinda, is an alumnus of Acalanes and a 1957 graduate of Santa Clara University. While attending Santa Clara, he was selected as a member of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

The benedict-elect is now in his second year at St. Louis University School of Medicine, where he is a member of Kappa Kappa Medical Fraternity.

Carolyn's and Peter's engagement was announced to a group of their friends at a party in Washington, D. C., where Carolyn is employed with the Proprietary Association.

Carolyn's brother, William, is a student at University of New Mexico where he is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity.

Following the August wedding Carolyn and Peter plan to make their home in St. Louis, where Peter will complete his medical schooling.

They will each present the problems and methods of planning two distinctively different types of summer camps.

Hoskins has led his troop on six trips over the Sierra and will tell how to integrate a training program on a moving camp trip that meets with the approval of boys of all ages, while Condit will explain how to prepare for a camp that is planned to stay in the area with short trips to highlight the surrounding country.

Kappa Alumnae Plan February Benefit Bridge

The East Bay Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association is planning a benefit bridge luncheon for its members and their friends on Thursday, February 5. Similar parties were held simultaneously in 12 Kappa homes throughout the East Bay and Contra Costa County areas.

The annual affair is held to raise money for the group's local philanthropy, the East Bay Association for Retarded Children, and also for scholarships given to worthy students to various universities throughout the United States.

A buffet luncheon will be served at 12:30, followed by an afternoon of bridge and canasta with prizes.

Mrs. Bernard S. Ginsburg of Orinda, ways and means chairman, is making the arrangements for the afternoon, with the help of her assistant, Mrs. George Howes Jr. of Piedmont. Mrs. Grover H. MacLeod of Moraga is in charge of the spring flower decor throughout the various homes.

Homes in the Orinda-Lafayette area will include those of Mrs. Arthur C. Scheu, with Mrs. Jack McCorkle as chairman; Mrs. Roger Stark with Mrs. Sutherland L. Hutton as chairman; Mrs. George Parnham with Mrs. John W. Babcock as hostess; and the R. W. Breuner home with Mrs. George Lemke as chairman.

Ainsworth to Head Orinda Cancer Crusade

J. Gordon Ainsworth, 73 La Cuesta, has accepted the Orinda chairmanship for the 1959 Cancer Crusade to be held here during the month of April, Dr. Frederick A. Pellegrin, president of the Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society, announced today.

The Orinda leader for the cancer society's one fund-raising drive of the year is well known in his community, serving presently on the Orinda Union School District Board of Trustees. He was honorary vice president of the Valley Art Center this past year after serving in various capacities on that volunteer group's board of directors.

Ainsworth has been active in Cub Scout work in Orinda and has worked on several Fathers' March of Dimes campaigns and for other community betterment interests. He is manager of Public Relations Services for the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation and a member of the Public Relations Round Table of the Bay Area.

"I feel that Orinda residents who have a long record of distinguished service to their community will be eager to help find the answer to cancer by becoming personally represented in cancer crusade contributions this year," the new chairman said upon accepting his appointment.

Fish? Boat? Picnic? So Near, Yet So Far . . .

We who live in Central Contra Costa County — and indeed, in most of California, are blest with one of the finest climates in the world.

This is one reason why recreation has become one of the biggest "businesses" in this part of the country.

All of us know people who are addicted to fishing, skiing and other exotic forms of "letting go."

Therefore, when anything relating to expanded recreational facilities is promulgated, it is "news" in the sense that it is a topic which will be of interest to an extremely large segment of the population.

WE ARE FORTUNATE. We have Mt. Diablo State Park on the East and Tilden Regional Parks to the west. We have some of the finest natural boating and fishing country in the world adjacent to us in the slough areas of the river country.

But we also have a rapidly expanding population. Your school growth will demonstrate this graphically.

We also have some fine recreation areas right in our own back yard, but they are marked "closed—no trespassing."

Funny thing about it is that these areas belong to the people—that's us—already.

WE'RE TALKING about the land that is used by the East Bay Municipal Utility District for reservoirs and watersheds. Two major facilities are the San Pablo Reservoir—a beautiful spot that is reminiscent of the hills of Scotland—and Lafayette Reservoir, which is practically in the center of one of our busiest communities.

And now EBMUD has announced plans for the construction of a dam and reservoir in the Briones Valley.

Then there is San Leandro Reservoir which is readily accessible to residents of our communities.

These watershed lands and reservoirs would make excellent "playgrounds" for their owners—and we are the owners because this is a municipal district.

But they are closed to all of us for boating, fishing, picnicking or hiking, because it would be a "health hazard" were they to be opened.

THIS SEEMS STRANGE. San Francisco has had no epidemics since opening Lake Merced to residents, and you can fish and boat there to your heart's content. This is part of the San Francisco water supply, too.

But that doesn't matter to the youngster who really gets a thrill out of hooking one of those nice big trout that are planted in the lake just for kids to catch.

Assemblyman S. C. Masterson has submitted legislation aimed at opening Alameda and Contra Costa County reservoirs of the EBMUD to fishing and other recreational uses.

The bill provides that the board of supervisors of any county in which a reservoir owned by a governmental agency is situated could request the State Department of Public Health to determine whether the reservoir could be opened for fishing and recreation.

If such a finding is made, the operating agency could then either open the area to the public or submit the question to the voters for decision.

Similar legislation was introduced two years ago and passed by both houses, but was vetoed by the governor after a vigorous campaign by EBMUD to have the legislation killed.

ANOTHER CASE in point: EBMUD recently opened Pardee Reservoir for fishing and boating, and it is a beautiful spot indeed. The need for such facilities can be demonstrated by the fact that Pardee has been swamped by sportsmen since it opened.

EBMUD fought the opening of this reservoir to the public, but when the counties surrounding Pardee Reservoir started to fight with EBMUD on water rights, the reservoir was opened — it would appear, just to keep some of those people happy.

But it was opened. This is a chink in the armor.

Let's consider the local situation. Lafayette Reservoir would make a beautiful park. It could be stocked with fish and provide some excellent sport.

SAN PABLO Reservoir is one of the most beautiful places in the state, and it would be ideal for crew races and similar boating events.

Wouldn't you like to have such areas available for your family recreation?

The East Bay Regional Park District recently stated that for $5 million it could purchase enough land to serve adequately this area in the future.

These people should know, because they have been operating a well-run park district for years.

But why should we spend $5 million for additional park land when we already own land that is surpassingly fitted for recreational use?

We say, let's open the reservoirs to the public. Adequate health precautions, sure! But it can be done, and we feel that it should be done soon.

Something to onder . . .

The office of Superintendent of Schools for Contra Costa County is an important one, and it will become increasingly important as the county and school districts continue to grow.

Recently the Contra Costa County Grand Jury made the recommendation that this office, which is now elective, should become appointive.

This certainly looks feasible on the surface.

BECAUSE MANY of the funds used by the county office come from the state, the change would require legislative action, but this could be accomplished if the county board of supervisors and the people wished the job to be made appointive.

It was also recently suggested that the State Superintendent of Schools become appointive, but this was defeated in the last general election.

It would be wise to study this problem before taking any action, and it would be good to get the opinion of various interested organizations on the subject.

The Mt. Diablo Council of PTA's has not gone on record in this matter.

If the job were to become appointive, it would be certain that the County Board of Education would become the appointing board. It would become important to select top-flight members for the county board, which is elective.

And this is no reflection on the present board, which is doing an excellent job.

THIS PROBLEM of the county superintendent is an interesting and important one, and should be placed in the hands of the people for resolution.

And incidentally, while we are studying such a change in our governmental setup, this would provide an excellent opportunity to study a complete revision of our county government.

Certainly a study of the charter form of government for our county would provide rewarding.

Perhaps the two could be combined, and the necessary legislation could be provided to kill a number of birds with the one stone.

Rueful Reflections Stir Some More Collections

By MARIE MONAHAN

AFTER you've bedded down your brood, do you sometimes feel like having a Good Cry . . . or a slight case of Hysterics? Just for the fun of it?

We have just tucked OURS in for the night.

THAT MAY SOUND tender & maternal, my dear, but Any Man who watches wrestling matches would know that what we used was the Half-Nelson.

A Very Exhausting Way to end the day!

At any rate, children certainly give one cause to reflect.

LIKE A GAME of Checkers . . . You have to be alert & keep one jump ahead of 'em ALL the time.

LIKE THE TIME our oldest asked if he could be in on a "drawing" at school for someone's guinea pig being given away. We said "Sure, Sure". . . NEVER dreaming—

But the next afternoon, there they were, boy & piglet w/a whoop of "Guess Who Won, Mom"!

A day or so later, when the pet persisted in biting, we suggested Our Boy pass it on to one of the other children in on the "drawing."

"Well, Mom . . . You see, I was the ONLY one. The only one who COULD have the guinea pig."

Oh. So we did. For six months. But it DID turn out a rewarding experience.

NOT SO THE TURTLES. Who seem underfoot at every turn.

On asking our young daughter to please draw our bath (Nine is a wonderful age for playing Maid-In-Waiting) she cried "Oh, NO, you can't, Mother . . . you'll HAVE to wait"!

"And why," we groaned, under a day's grit & grime, "must we put off lolling in the lavender salts?"

"Because of the turtles, that's why. They're ALL having their daily deep sea diving session."

Well! And what were they using for a landing base? The brand new dollar bar of bath soap, that's what!

WE ARE NOW using the chidlren's shower. A rock collection is soaking "clean" in one corner. And in a bowl of Clorox under the basin, a batch of old bones is going through a bleaching process.

Whose bones they are we don't know. In this house it is best not to be too nosey & ask questions. It just gets you some gruesome answers.

Another Mid-morning Meoldrama like yesterday & we'll need a rest cure. The boys forgot to empty their jean pockets (they don't trust us w/their treasures of rocks, toothless combs, washers, nails & such) & without checking the pockets, we tosed the pants into the washing machine.

OH . . . HOW WE suffered for that oversight!

HOW woud YOU feel faced w/a damp pocketful of agitated, bleached & quite wrung-out limp little frogs at 10 o'clock in the morning?

Tonight the children were nice to have around. Quietly engrossed in crossword puzzles till the jingle of that jolly old phone. THEN—

Soapsuds started flying, pillows sailed ceilingward & all pandemonium broke loose. That nice Chamber of Commerce man we were talking to, can't you just imagine WHAT he thought, say . . . Say!

COME TO THINK of it . . . Pillow fights aren't half the fun they used to be. Not w/that NEW foam rubber!

Come to think of it, boy-o-boy, those chicken feathers really flew. Didn't they?

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

Your recent editorial urged readers to petition legislators to pass the so-called "Elks Bill." Instead of presenting only the case for the bill it would seem that a public service might be rendered by presenting both sides. Some of the difficulties with the proposed legislation are as follows:

1. The bill does not distinguish between the addict victim of the narcotics trade and the non-addict narcortic wholesaler who profits from the trade. No one would suggest that the victim of a rapist or a robber should be sent to prison along with the person who attacked him, but this is what the Elks Bill proposes in the narcotic field.

2. It does not distinguish between a person on the periphery of narcotics and one intensely active in the trade, e.g. Postulate a man thoroughly bad, several narcotic priors, involved in racketeering and wholesaling large amounts of narcotics who is caught making a transaction. Postulate also a high school adolescent, clean record well thought of in his community, who, in an error of judgment (and errors of judgment are part and parcel of adolescense) purchases two cigarettes of marijuana and sells one to a friend for fifty cents.

Surely no one would argue that these two should be punished exactly alike by 30 years in prison and that the judge should have his hands tied. But this is exactly what the Elks Bill would do.

Because of these failures of the bill law enforcement officials predict that should the bill pass convictions would be difficult, if not impossible to obtain. In this connection it would be interesting if the opinion of our newly elected District Attorney John Nejedly could be obtained. As an example of this difficulty in the case of the boy postulated above jurors would be loathe to convict if they knew that conviction meant 30 years in prison without possibility of parole even though they felt that the boy was guilty and should suffer some punishment.

3. The bill does not differentiate between opium alkaloid derivatives (heroin, etc.)) and marijuana. . . . (See Ed. note).

4. The bill strikes at the indeterminate sentence law which all penologists and other experts in the field hail as a great advancement in criminal law. There seems little point in paying out good tax money to judges, prison authorities, probation officers, psychiatrists, psychologists et al and then tying their hands.

In 1954 the Citizens' Advisory Committee To The Attorney General On Crime Prevention made an exhaustive study of the problem of narcotics. On page 36 of their report under the heading "Penalties" appears the following language:

"In so far as addiction is concerned it would appear that stiffer penalties merely result in brushing the problem "under the carpet;" the problem remains in spite of our complacency in wearing blinders. On the state level, the philosophy toward penalties may be summed up in the statement that "It is not the severity of the punishment that acts as a deterrent to crime, but rather the certainty of punishment."

This statement was voiced by such experts as Austin MacCormick, Walter Creighton, George Maloney and others."

It would appear that prescribing narcotics legislation is like football coaching—every layman feels he can do a better job than the experts do.

Ed's Note: The Elk's petition does not lump in marijuana with "addictive" drugs.

FIRST BABY
DEAR EDITOR:

My husband and I want to thank you and The Sun for making possible the contest in which our new daughter became Orinda's First Baby of '59.

Our thanks goes also to the many donors of gifts in making this an extra joyous occasion.

TOOTH TRUTH
DEAR EDITOR:

As to whether there is an alternative to fluoridation, I quote from "Newsweek" for November 24:

"For the 60 million inhabitants of communities which do not fluoridate water supplies, "stopgap" measures (tablets, home fluoridation units, and dentifrices) have shown some ability to reduce tooth decay, four panelists reported.

"But even the most conscientious use of such measures, the panelists concluded, probably cannot match the 65 per cent reduction in caries achieved by public-health fluoridation programs."

Noted also at the recent Dallas meeting of the American Dental Association was the fact that 1651 communities now fluoridate.

GRACE J. CAMPBELL

Under The Sun

Let's Talk About Dope, Cigarettes, Sacramento

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Thank you.

As of yesterday, 875 signatures have been signed to the narcotics petition printed in this column two weeks ago. And they are still coming in. For example, Tuesday I received a two page petition from the Senior Citizens Club with 45 names signed.

This is certainly wonderful cooperation. Our Elks Club (BPOE No. 1811) is most gratified. And The Sun thanks you, too.

In the Letters-to-the-Editor, you'll find a letter which raises questions about the wisdom of the petition. There are some valid points in this letter—and also some fallacious ones. But the very same thing is true with the petition—which asks the California legislature and governor to enact legislation "to make mandatory a 30-year minimum sentence, without parole, for any person convicted of selling heroin or other addictive drug."

Let's hear the experts

No one expects our assemblymen and senators to immediately enact this bill—without first thoroughly studying all aspects. Experts would be asked to testify; evidence would be carefully analyzed; and finally, a good, strong bill would be passed.

The two-million signers of the petition would be concerned if this bill is bottled up in a committee, which has happend before. Or if the legislature procrastinates and sends it to an interim study committee, which means nothing would happen for at least two more years. Certainly action is needed now.

The letter in the next column raises this pertinent question: What if an "innocent" person gets hooked and, in turn, sells heroin to a teen-ager. Should this person be sentenced to 30 years without parole? I honestly don't know. Should we then turn this "innocent" person loose or give him a very light sentence, which means he may then sell narcotics to your teen-ager? Obviously, the answer is no. If addiction is uncurable, then for the safety of your youngsters and mine the addict, who is also a salesman, must be taken out of society.

Let's let our legislators, the governor and their experts work out the details. It is their job. Meanwhile, The Sun will ask our assemblyman, Jerry Waldie, and our senator, George Miller Jr., their views at the present time. Waldie wrote me a letter the other day enclosing some opinions of others on the narcotic problem. Jerry did not state his opinion of the Elks' petition.

What kind of new taxes?

What our legislators do in Sacramento is of concern to you. This column often yaks about the importance of our local and county officials but I sometimes forget that our lives and pocketbooks are closely affected by what the legislature and governor do.

Example: Do you want to pay an extra two or three cents on each pack of cigarettes you buy? That could very well happen if the big wheels in Sacramento decide this is the way to raise new taxes. If not a cigarette tax, what then? Or should our government cut back on services, improve efficiency, tighten its belt—and not increase its budget, so no new taxes are needed?

Should the various welfare and pension payments be increased? Should the costly legislation demanded by the union politicians be enacted? These and hundreds of other questions are being debated in Sacramento. Read about them.

On occasion write your elected officials your views. A post card or memo is fine; it doesn't have to be a formal letter. You'd be amazed at the impact of a letter from a constituent. Too often, our elected officials (in Sacramento and Washington) never hear from you. (I presume our local and Martinez officials get the word much more often.)

Fluoridation battle

We will watch our legislature closely when they act on the East Bay Municipal Utility District's bill to permit them to put fluoridation to a vote of the people. There will be a battle in the legislature as the anti-fluoridation forces will fight it. Citizens' committees will have to be alert to keep the bill moving. EBMud has promised to actively support the bill.

Now to a different subject for a moment. Now and then The Sun is criticized for mis-spelling names or getting facts wrong. Sometimes it is our fault. However, a large part (or most) of our social, club, youth and church organizational news is gathered and given to us by publicity chairmen of these various organizations. We could not possibly check the accuracy of the thousands of names and facts we print from these sources each week. We must depend upon them.

And if your pet story about your club does not get in, don't always blame us. Perhaps your club's publicity chairman did not turn it in. Sometimes a story is held from one week to the next, but we'll usually use any newsworthy story.

We want your news. Jot it down on a post card, some wrapping paper or anything and send it to The Sun. If you don't write in newspaper style don't worry. If you can type the story, please do. But PLEASE SPELL the names clearly (print them to be sure).

Note to "A very unhappy Taxpayer:" This is a very intriguing signature on your recent letter but we can't use it because you did not also sign your name. Please sign your name to letters which you want used or to which you want our staff to devote attention.

The Staff Corner

And to Bob Rapida Goes . . .

By DICK OSBORN

It's strange the way things happen in the newspaper business.

This column is usually turned over to one of our versatile staff members so that he can vent his wrath on subjects community or personal.

Frequently, it is humorous, or we delude ourselves into thinking this is so.

But this week, we would like to depart from standard procedure and explain to you a little something about how events happen in the newspaper world.

THIS COLUMN is going to talk about one of our staff members—Bob Rapida—who doesn't know this is being written, and will probably tell me what he thinks of it in no uncertain terms when he finds out.

If you happened to read the lead story in last week's Sun, you will recall that it dealt with the phone listings of Marsh Creek Lodge and the East Contra Costa Fire Protection District—the two numbers being identical.

This is how the story came about.

Bob, doing a thorough job as usual, decided to call Gerry Gill, a Contra Costa Housing Authority Commissioner, to see if he had repaid the funds which he owed the county.

Bob knew that Gill owned the Marsh Creek Lodge, so he picked up the phone book, looked in the white pages under Marsh Creek Lodge, and noticed that it said "Marsh Creek Station". He then looked up Gill's number and found it the same.

HE BEGAN TO wonder what "station" meant. Why station, and not just lodge? Perhaps they meant fire station.

So a check with the emrgency numbers listed in the front of the book. Sure enough, same phone number. This led to the logical process of checking the advertisements in the yellow pages, and the rest of the story is history.

This is how a good reporter works. He wouldn't pat himself on the back, so someone else will have to do it for him. This won't buy him an extra cup of coffee, but he can paste it in his scrap book.

OF COURSE, Bob would be the first to admit that most of our stories and news tips come from you people. Somebody calls and asks a question, and if we don't have the answer, we check. This is our most reliable source of information.

So don't depend on all of us being as alert as Bob was on the Gill story. We depend on you, because you are a lot closer to everything than the four of us in the editorial department can be.

Just give a call . . . we'll always be glad to listen.

Inside Out . . .

Try a Little Experiment: Keep Your Eye on the Sign

By JOYCE BARNUM

Going someplace?

Next time you get in your car, try a little experiment. Keep a sharp eye out for little signs on the right hand side of local freeways, byways and highways posting the legal speed limit.

Continue the experiment. Obesrve the legal, posted limit and find out how strong your nerves are.

MINE ARE anything but stern stuff, I found out recently, while playing this dangerous little game.

Be decent about it . . . I tried to be. Stick to the slow lane if you're on a multiple laned artery. Its not too bad here. Cars can generally find space to pass a car traveling at the legal pace where there's more than one lane.

On a strictly two lane road, your nerves are in for a shattering.

As you legally and obediently observe those little signs, cars will stack up behind you, each one piloted by a fuming driver.

IF YOUR nerves are strong and you can maintain the strain, stay with the legal limit. But the cars behind you will follow one of two courses.

Their drivers will pass, acting from utter frustration. There isn't really room to pass, but they'll pass anyway. Or they'll press their hot, steamy radiator caps all but flush up against your rear tail fins and "push" you on.

Speed limits, as they exist, are so unrealistic that perhaps only one in ten driver observes them. Try it sometime—you'll see.

IF WE OBSERVED the letter of the law, the pace around here would be in for some big changes.

Another sign that rates but short shrift from local drivers is the "Slow, Men Working" gem. These are put out and about to protect someone, I'm sure. But most of the time its a project to find the working men to protect. Why put up these signs unless there is really some action nearby?

WE REALIZE THAT its impossible to leave speed rates to drivers' discretion. So few of us have discretion in this matter.

But try driving the legal speed sometime, not as a practice, just as an experiment.

The next time you get in your car, for instance.

Letters to The Editor

YULE SPIRIT?
DEAR EDITOR:

It would be fitting while the Christmas spirit is still in the air to look at some possibilities for curtailing and cutting down on the reasons for the Cold War.

Cultural exchanges between the Soviet Union and the United States, such as are now going on, help in the people-to-people understanding which President Eisenhower has proposed some time ago.

Our safety and protection cannot alone be centered on our intercontinental missiles. We must be careful that push button warfare doesn't appear too easy, and feel that all we have to endure is higher taxes to help pay into the billions it takes for defense each year.

Syngman Rhee and other dictators may depend on the U.S. to pull them out of a justifiable revolution on the part of their people, and it would be a sorry day for the world if rockets and missiles were released because Franco or Rhee started a new oppressive measure.

TOM KENDALL

SEAL SALE
DEAR EDITOR:

Our sincere thanks to you and the Sun Publishing Company for your interest and support of this Association's Annual Christmas Seal Sale.

Through your efforts and the wide circulation of the Sun Papers the TB problem in our county is being brought to the attention of Contra Costa residents.

Thank you again for your cooperation and assistance.

On The Lighter Side

Pat and Bill Sergeant invited friends and neighbors to their Bear Creek Road ranch for a post-holiday party recently. This may be the last gathering of any size there for the Sergeants will be moving late in the spring to a new home in Happy Valley. (Yes—their beloved horses are included in the moving plans.) Some of the party guests were the Milton Davies, Bill Harts, Berend Bremers, Donald Davidsons and John Folliards.

Another party, held on New Year's Eve in Orinda, was held at Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sage's home. There were dancing and games and the usual "eve-hilarity" followed by a midnight pot-luck buffet. These were some of the couples there—the Frank Tebbs, Glenn Flumerfelts, Edwin Roberts, Jack Hanfords, Bill Hoppys and Dick Doles.

Helen and Norman Gibson are back from attending a big family reunion in southern California where they were house guests of the John Bocks of Glendora and Harriet and Jim Goodhue spent several glorious ('though rainy) days in Carmel as guests of the Donald Goodhues.

Happily, the sun shone brightly on one day much to the delight of youngsters Jo Anne and Gayle Goodhue of Concord, who loved racing along the beach.

One evening Carol and Evert Hodges of Lafayette attended a large dinner party at Dr. and Mrs. McKay Cier's home in Oakland. Most of the guests were avid horse-lovers who spend as much time as possible at Skyline Ranch.

Welcome to the Newcomer Quails . . .

Welcome to the 15th unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center—the "Quails." Most of the 15 (coincidence?) charter members live in the Orinda area and the first meeting was held at Roberta Clark's home in Moraga. First project—an intensive drive to collect used clothing and articles to help stock the Thrift Shop in Walnut Creek.

It is hoped that if any of their friends or neighbors who read this column have any to donate they will contact a member. One who would be happy to hear from you is Barbara Perkins, DRake 6-4017.

The Frederick A. Sawyer family spent several days in Whittier and, of course, toured Disneyland. The Arnold Thompson have had as their guests the George Warners of Visalia and the Ernest Reichmanns have been entertaining Mrs. R's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Bjelde from Madison, Wisconsin. From Ontario, California, the Ola Walkers have been house guests of the Kenneth McCampbells and the Thomas Peeks were hosts to Mrs. Maude Niedrinhous of La Jolla. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Preece (she is president of the Quails) and family have been visiting with relatives in Reno.

Believe it or not, It's Mardi-Gras Time

"Mardi Gras" time has rolled around again and WHAT a lavish affair is in the offing this year. Sponsors—the Larks, date—Feb. 7, place — Diablo Country Club. "Suppressed Desire" is the theme for this formal dinner dance and each guest will be wearing an original hat creation. I haven't seen the invitations (which are going like mad) yet but hear that they are ultra-ultra—designed and printed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pingree who have followed the New Orleans-ish atmosphere to be used in all decor. Henry Gallagher's orchestra has been arranged for by Marge and Bill Harris, chairmen.

Mrs. Edward Ageno and Mrs. Sherman Sibley will be among those from our area attending the Junior League fashion show at the Sheraton-Palace on February 4.

After taking time out for the holidays, the fashion show season is again getting under way. The ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek have a fashion show-tea slated for Saturday, January 31 which sounds a little unusual and interesting.

With the theme of "Chinese Fantasy," Norma of Da'Len, whose exclusive dress shop is located in Chinatown, will show the latest spring fashions. And really interesting should be the display of ancient Chinese robes which are gorgeous!

Mrs. Joseph Byrnes is general chairman of the event assisted by Mrs. E. William Palmer, Mrs. Donald Rowe and Mrs. June Harter. Lillian Palmer at YE 5-5293 is the one to call for tickets to the 2 p.m. fashion show.

And another fashion show is on . . .

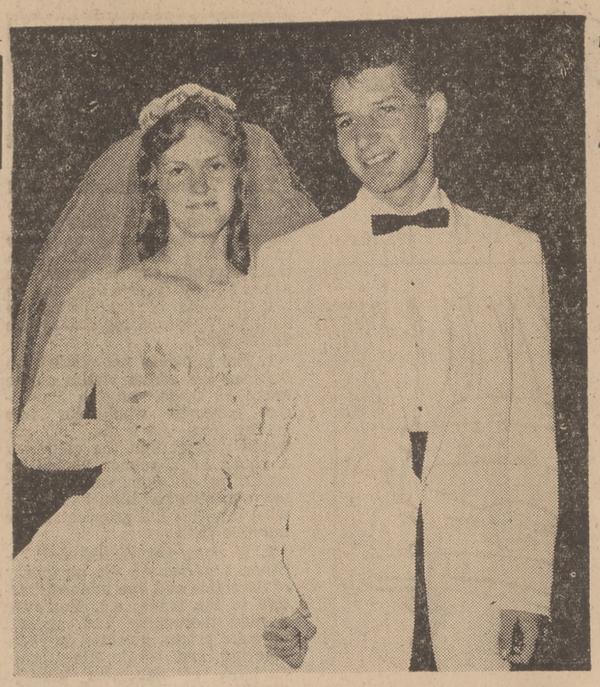
Looking forward to one of the biggest fashion shows of the year are the friends of St. Perpetua's Women's Guid of Lafayette. This year the luncheon will be held at the Hotel Claremont's Garden Room on Thursday, February 5. Grace Lenahan who did such a tremendous job last year is again chairman this year. She really comes up with an afternoon of fun for all.

William Silva of Montclair has a line-up of irresistible fashions for the show. Five St. Perpetua ladies will promenade the ramp along with Silva's "pros." These include Gloria Coleman, Doris Westington, Virginia Neumann, Diane Vogel and Juanita Parks—all attractive, experienced models. TWA's Mary Gordon quite suitably will do the commentary for the show which has "Flight Into Fashion" as its theme.

Hard working committee members are Pat Kraatz who is in charge of the models; Elaine Murphy, assigned to hostessing duties; Abbie Schaeffer who is really working up some out-of-this-world decorations; Frances Ferriter who, with Lafayette's "Laf-Frantics," will stage some laughable entertainment prior to the fashion show. Charlotte Cairney (AT 3-3654) and Connie Sanford AT 3-8090) are in charge of tickets. Better call them soon because tickets are going FAST!

Lafayette Lions Cub president, Lou Repetto, and wife, Norma, left by plane Sunday for Las Vegas where they will spend a few days attending a Lions Club convention. The Repettos' neighbors are sharing the children, two-year-old Freddie, and 10-year-old Janis, while they are gone. Nice to see such a hard-working couple like Norma and Lou get away for a few days of fun mixed in with the work of a convention.

Before closing, our congratulations to the John Bartoleros and the David Humms for recently increasing the male population with the birth of boys. This is John's and Pat's first experience with the diaper and bottle routine and we know they, like all of us, will love every minute of it!



SOLEMN RITES united the former Betty Ann Black of Walnut Creek and Fred Griffith of Berkeley, December 20 in the First Baptist Church, Walnut Creek. The couple will attend a Bible college in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Miss Black Is Bride; 200 Attend Rites

Christmas decorations of red and green adorned the interior of the First Baptist Church, Walnut Creek, December 20, as Betty Ann Black became Mrs. Fred Griffith.

The new Mrs. Griffith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Black of 81 El Caminito, Walnut Creek.

She was a student at Las Lomas High School, and with her husband will attend Southwestern Bible College, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Betty Ann's maid of honor was Sharon Parker of Martinez, and her bridesmaids were Judith Black, her sister-in-law; Joyce Parker, Georgia Souza and Diane Oats.

Fred's best man was Frank Griffith, his brother, and the ushers were Otis Black Jr., brother of the bride; David Elmes and David Griffith.

Denny Elmes was ring bearer and Linda Griffith, sister of the groom, was the flower girl.

Rev. Monroe Stevens of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Antioch, conducted the ceremonies.

A reception was held afterwards in the church. There were about 200 guests.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griffith of Berkeley.

Crown Circle Plans Meeting

In addition, they will have an opportunity to tour the home and to meet the house mother, Mrs. William Haddock, and the girls themselves. Mrs. Kenneth Smetts of Lafayette will act as hostess this month.

The Girls' Residence is maintained by the Northern California Branch of The King's Daughters for teen-age girls who "need a home away from home" while completing their education or embarking on their careers.

Heidi Chapter Members Meet

Heidi Chapter members met recently at the home of Mrs. George Oppie, 1138 Camino Vallecito, Lafayette. This business meeting started the new year and was conducted by President Mrs. Glenn Stubbleffied.

Dessert was served by hostesses Mrs. W. A. Siebert and Kenneth Keller. The annual spring benefit for the Children's Home Society was planned and organized.

Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Meet For 'Tour'

First meeting of the new year for the Mt. Diablo Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae was held recently at the home of Mrs. Harold Hollister in Lafayette, with Mrs. T. F. Bryant assisting.

With color slides and native costumes the members enjoyed an evening of adventure in Europe. Their "tour hostess" was a delightful and charming informal lecturer, Mrs. William W. Dunlop of Concord; homemaker to her husband and three children; teacher to a class in the Mt. Diablo School District; leader to a Girl Scout troop; student for a master's degree at San Francisco State College.

She spun a colorful web from her exciting experiences on the Art and Music Tour, touching upon the quaint charm of the old world, the incomparable art treasures, the creative workmanship in the iron, stone and wood architectural detail, and the hospitality of the people.

The Mt. Diablo Alumnae will hold their next meeting at 1 p.m. February 19 at the home of Mrs. Frederic Sawyer, 115 Draeger Drive, Moraga. All Alpha Chis and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Rams Drop Pacifica High 43-40

The Pleasant Hill Rams made a big night of it last Friday when they toppled Pacifica high in a pair of league games.

The Bees set the pace when they trailed 24-22 going into the third quarter and put on a fast finish to come through 32-27. Tom Redmond collected 11 points and Sammy Kaye for the Ram men.

On the varsity game it was a go all the way as the Rams club took a 10-5 lead in the first quarter only to have the Spartans come back for a 21-19 halftime advantage.

COACH ART POULIN put gas in the Ram machine at the half time and they came back to take a 31-29 lead at the end of the third quarter.

In the final period the Spartans took a 40-39 advantage when Bob Carey caged a field goal in with 24 seconds to go. Bill Locatelli later netted a pair of field goals and the buzzer ended the game with the Rams notching the win.

Sid Maestre with 15, Carey with 11 and Locatelli with 10 topped the Rams scoring.

Knights in Good Form; Win 55-38

The Los Lomas Knights were in good form last Friday night as they rolled to a 55-38 league win over the San Ramon Wolves.

The game played at Walnut Creek, found the Wolves trailing 17-4 at the end of the first quarter and never in trouble as they held a 31-13 half time lead and coasted in with reserves taking over a good part of the second half.

THE KNIGHTS really won the game on the backboards as they controlled them to the extent of 58 rebounds to San Ramon's 21.

Las Lomas had the top scorers in Tom Nichols with 19 and Ransome with 13. Ed French led San Ramon with 9.

IN THE BEE game, Las Lomas led 17-16 at the half but would up with San Ramon out in front 39-36.

Bob Morris of Las Lomas was high in the scoring column with 17 points while Tom Gurley and Larry Pearson had 10 each for San Ramon.

Matadors Register 37-23 Victory

The Miramonte Matadors took a pair of league games when they played San Ramon High in the Orinda gym last Tuesday afternoon, the varsity winning by a comfortable 51-36 score while the Bees held on for a 36-35 win.

The Knights took a scant 7-5 first quarter lead but were well ahead the rest of the way scoring in the double digits in the second, third and fourth quarters, getting 17, 17 and 12 points in that order.

MIRAMONTE GUARD Bill Houston sparked the Knights in the second quarter when he netted four field goals and went on to wind up as the game's high individual scorer with a total of 14 points.

The visitors fell down in the second period when they hit for but seven points on a line field goal and five free throws, but did come back with 12 in the third frame and 16 in the fourth.

George Kovlery paced San Ramon with 9 points on three field goals and a like number of free throws.

The Matadors really outdid the Wolves hitting for 22 field goals to the loser's even dozen.

IN THE BEE game, Miramonte took what appeared to be an early commanding lead going out in front 22-15 at the half only to have San Ramon come fast in the second half only to fall short 36-35.

Doug Hudson was the winner's big gun with 14 points but Center Gurley of San Ramon took the game honors with 15.

Acalanes Takes Game in Overtime

The Acalanes Don varsity hoop team eked by Piedmont last Tuesday afternoon in an overtime game that wound up with a 24-22 score.

Piedmont playing deliberate ball control held the Dons even with a 5-5 first quarter count and took a 13-11 halftime advantage.

THE DONS played an effective defensive third quarter holding Piedmont to 3 points while registering 7 on their own to forge ahead 18-16.

The Acalanes club stayed in front with a 22-10 advantage and then went into a stall of their own with six minutes on the clock.

Piedmont's Steve Ricketts stole the ball with a minute to go and raced down court to register the bucket and knot the count at 22 all.

THE DONS in possession held the ball until five seconds to go when Bill Yonge took a shot from the free throw line that missed and time ran out before anyone could let loose again.

In the overtime fans were given a treat as far as excitement went when the ball changed hands back and forth with the Dons winning in the final four seconds when Yonge once again jumped shot from the free throw line to sink the bucket.

Piedmont's Pete Rowe took individual scoring honors with ten points while Mel Simpson with 8 and Yonge with 6 topped Acalanes.

IN THE BEE preliminary Piedmont took a 28-10 half time lead and held on for a 36-30 win.

John Zanotti, Bill Albert and Chris Rinne had 9 points each for Acalanes.

Dons Win Over Diablo

Playing brilliant defensive ball, the Acalanes Dons basketball team defeated a tough Diablo squad, 39-30 at Diablo on January 6.

Diablo, having a much taller squad than Acalanes, failed to take advantage of it as the Dons outrebounded them throughout the game.

Starting out fast, Acalanes grabbed an 8-4 lead in the first quarter, coming back with twelve more in the second quarter to lead 20-12 at halftime.

Returning to the floor, Diablo played smoother ball and trailed 27-20 at the end of the third quarter. But the Dons outscored their opponents 12-10 in the last stanza

Rams Rank 2nd in Three Way Wrestling Tourney

The Pleasant Hill Rams took part in a three way wrestling meet with Pacifica and Castro Valley on Tuesday and wound up with a good all around showing.

The meet found each wrestler in two matches and scores figured several different ways.

PACIFICA the host school lost to Pleasant Hill 28-18 and to Castro Valley 26-21.

In all around competition Castro Valley scored 52 points.

Pleasant Hill was second with 42 and Pacifica wound up third with 37.

The Rams hosted the Miramonte Matadors on Friday and racked them up 33-13.

In notching the win, Pleasant Hill won one match by forfeit, copped three decisions and three by falls.

The Rams have a league meet at Diablo this afternoon and are heavy favorites to cop the win.

The next meet for the Rams who are undefeated in the Contra Costa Division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League finds them meeting the powerful Castro Valley team at Pleasant Hill at 3:15 p.m. next Wednesday in a practice match.

The Castro Valley team has won 18 straight starts and the match between the two should draw a top crowd.

Ram Mentor George Galli has set his gun for this one and figures that if all goes well he can topple the invaders.

Diablo Club Names New Golf Pro

Patten, Orinda Pro's Son, Now Country Club Mentor

Ron Patten, son of Orinda Country Club Pro Pat Patten, has been named head professional at the Diablo Country Club replacing Norm Tauscher.

Patten, born and reared in the Diablo area, will take over as club pro February 1.

HE ATTENDED Danville Elementary School, Acalanes High School and St. Mary's College. He turned professional in 1950 after spending two years in the army.

For five years he served as head pro in Hawaii at the Kalakawa Golf and Country Club and then returned to the United States as assistant pro at the Woodbridge Golf and Country Club in Lodi.

There, he worked under well known golf pro Dave Dillon.

PATTEN IS MARRIED and has two children aged 2 and 4.

Patten Senior has been with the Orinda Country Club for some 25 years and is one of the outstanding pros in the nation.

THERE'S PLENTY of fast action when the Walnut Creek Warriors take to the ice at Berkeley Iceland every Sunday evening. Going strong are Rich Bonnighton and Wes Hart, right. Sunday, the Warriors go against the Berkeley Bears.

Miramonte Dumps Knights

The Miramonte Matadors defeated Las Lomas Knights in a Foothill League wrestling match held at Orinda last Tuesday afternoon when they won seven bouts to five for the Knights.

The win kept the Matadors in second place with an only loss to the league leading Acalanes Dons.

This afternoon Miramonte meets San Ramon in a league match at Miramonte.

Next week the Matadors host the Acalanes Dons in another league meet and meet Pittsburg High at Miramonte on Friday.

Other league meets find Acalanes hosting Las Lomas this afternoon.

Knight Armor Jabs Red Devils

The Las Lomas Knights chalked up another win when the varsity five came from behind to topple the Diablo Red Devils 45-44 in the final quarter of what turned out to be a wild and wooly game.

The Knights were off on the right foot when they took a 14-10 first quarter lead but they slowed to a slow walk in the second period of play and found themselves trailing 24-19 at the half.

THE KNIGHTS did pick up a point in the third quarter outscoring the home club 11-10 but it looked like a lost cause midway in the fourth quarter when at one point they trailed by 10 points.

A scoring spurt late in the quarter brought them up to where they trailed but 2 points 42-40 when Diablo hit a field goal making it 44-40 with but 40 seconds to go.

The Knight's Jim Sisler was fouled and hit a free throw and Clark Ransome brought the Knights to a 44-42 count when he hit on a charity toss.

THE PRESSING Devils fouled again and Bob Gomez hit on one of two from the foul line making it 44-43.

Diablo took the ball but Somer stole it away, drove in to the basket and during a series of tries for a tip in the buzzer sounded but the officials whistle had gone unheard in the din when the crowd let loose as the whirlwind finish and Ransome stepped to the foul line to sink a pair of free throws to notch a 45-44 win.

Diablo's Mike Sweeney had 10 points but Ransome's 12 and Sisler's 14 topped him to lead the scoring parade.

Dons Still Undefeated

The Acalanes Varsity wrestlers stayed in the winners circle in their past three matches and as a result are undefeated to date.

On Thursday, they won a close 20-17 decision over Miramonte in a match held at Acalanes. The Dons were trailing until the final match when Denny Toll won a decision over Miramonte's Jim Botto in the heavyweight division.

Spring's Just Around the Corner and so are Sports

By ERWIN MATTSON

Spring is around the corner and with it are Spring Sports.

It's the sport season when more take part than at any other time of the year. There's baseball, golf, track, tennis, swimming all going into action.

• • •

SPORTS PARTICIPATION in high schools in the local area is extremely high.

Figures at Acalanes show that more than 400 boys turn out for a sport during the school year. That figure is close to two out of three.

Figures elsewhere show pretty much the same statistics as far as Contra Costa is concerned.

• • •

Look for competition in track to be especially keen in the county meet this year.

Several new track coaches in the area appear ready to go all out to produce winners. Some of them practically work at it the year around. Sometimes I think it's better if a coach works in more than one sport as he then tends to get a little broader view.

• • •

PLEASANT HILL is really coming along in basketball and presently is tied with Antioch for the top spot in the Contra Costa division. Pittsburg, a perennial favorite, has been dumped in their only two outings by Pacifica and Clayton Valley, the circuits two youngest members.

It's such a close race that Pitt could still come back and win it all. Coach Art Poulin of the Rams is off to a good start in league play after bringing them along slowly in practice tilts.

The Rams have never won a hoop title—it would be nice to see them win as it couldn't happen to a nicer guy or a better bunch of players.

• • •

WRESTLING TAKES the spotlight when Division meets are held. Pittsburg hosts the Contra Costa Division while Acalanes hosts the Foothill Division.

The top four in each of the 12 weight divisions take part in the county league meet at Pleasant Hill High on February 14.

• • •

BASEBALL IS ONE of the most conservative of sports in regards to rule changes and uniforms. Both have had few changes in a number of years.

The suits are usually of flannel and conservative in color being usually a white or a grey with the addition of a stripe for the daring.

Flannel in many ways is unpractical as it tears easily.

A NEW MATERIAL has just come out which is a knit such as used in many football practice pants. It's tough and durable, can be laundered and seems to be a step forward.

All athletic gear at one time had to be dry cleaned which made for a big $$ bill.

Most equipment today can be washed in warm water and mild soap and that really helps the budget which unlike government can't operate in the Red.

Matadors Take 2 From San Ramon

The Miramonte Varsity registered a 37-23 win over the Highlanders last Friday afternoon.

Piedmont using their noted ball control game gave Miramonte trouble in the early stages only to have the Matadors steadily take the lead as they outscored the Highlanders in every quarter.

IT WAS 7-3 the first period and 17-11 at the midpoint. Miramonte made it 25-16 at the end of the third quarter and rolled on in when they outscored Piedmont 12-7 in the final canto.

Miramonte's Randy Young was top scorer with 11 while John Coffey had 8.

Piedmont's leader was George Tolen with 7.

IN THE BEE game it was a "closie" all the way with Piedmont taking the win in the closing seconds when they hit for three free throws in the final 52 seconds.

The final tally favored Piedmont 30-27.

Piedmont's Ed Volkwein was the game's top scorer with 12. His free throw along with a pair by Craig Cokley decided the issue.

Sno-Scoop

By Garry Barnett

This is a new column to The Sun, and will appear here each week to bring you information on the popular Far West ski areas, on ski club activities, local enthusiasts and everything else pertaining to this favorite of winter sports.

Ed Boero, who owns a sports shop in Walnut Creek is staging a contest for all skiers. Keep the lift tickets that you have purchased during the present season, put your name and phone number on the back, and turn them into his shop.

AT THE CLOSE of the season there will be three prizes; one for the person submitting the most tickets; one for the best selection of tickets and one for the lucky ticket which will be drawn.

Members of Explorer Post 326 literally had a ball last weekend at Dodge Ridge. Joe Maltby, adviser, brought along his bus equipped with sink, stove and heater.

These facilities sufficiently met the demands of the boys who camped outside in front of the Dodge Ridge Grammar School. On Saturday snow conditions were icy, sitzmark making was hard on the posterior, but that didn't stop Bruce Crosby.

Bruce did a beautiful one-and-a-half gainer, landing up to his waist in snow. It took three ski patrolmen with shovels to get him out and on his merry way again.

There were no serious accidents, except for Ted Bradshaw who couldn't sit down for the trip home. On Sunday the snow was drier and skiing was better on the newly installed Pamalift.

Members of the party included Ted Bradshaw, Emil Hallament, Harold Queen, Doug Nichols, Loren Peters, Ken Muther, Bill Shutt, Pat Haley, Dave Todoroff and Joe Maltby, who come from Pleasant Hill, Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

Kenneth Granger of Granger's Automotive Service went to Soda Springs with his three daughters, Janis, Debborah and Stephany. They had a terrific time skiing and toboganning while visiting a friend.

Clara Bos, W. E. Miner, Ed Ball and G. T. Divine were also spotted on the slopes last weekend.

Chicken Manor Now Open On Mt. Diablo Boulevard

"Have Flavor, Will Travel" is the slogan of the newly opened Chicken Manor at 3654 Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette.

The establishment features pork tenderloin on a bun, as well as chicken dinners, according to Howard Sorrels, president.

Other corporation members are Walt Rose and Undie Underhill. Hours of the eatery are Sunday to Thursday 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to midnight, stated Sorrels.

"All our chicken dinners include green salad, french fries, buttered bread and sliced sweet pickle," Sorrels noted.

"We also feature a complete line of sandwiches, which are all served with french fries and serve steaks, too," he continued.

Sheltered Workshop Confab Due

Sub-committees to plan details of a county-wide conference on "Sheltered Workshop And The Community" today have been named by Mrs. Robert W. Salmon of Richmond, general chairman.

Scheduled for February 14, 1 to 4 p.m. at Diablo Valley College on Golf Club Road, the free conference is open to individuals and organizations interested in the welfare of all handicapped people and to those desiring to see most effective use of Contra Costa's present facilities, taxes and voluntary funds, which are earmarked for rehabilitation purposes.

Co-sponsors for the session are the Contra Costa Junior College District, the East, Central and West Contra Costa Community Welfare Councils, and the El Cerrito Junior Chamber of Commerce. The County Health department is cooperating.

In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Pat Machewitz, chairman, Mrs. Olive Peterson and L. A. Ruybalid. L. E. Coleman is chairman of the public relations committee which includes Ralph L. Harris and Eldridge Pratt; Catherine O'Connor, newspaper publicity; Robert Pence and R. T. VanMetre, Jr., illustrative slides.

Cancer Leaders Attend Confab

Contra Costa Cancer Society leaders from various reaches of the county attended the Northern California mid-year conference Monday and Tuesday at the Canterbury Hotel in San Francisco.

Local delegates to the conclave heard Dr. Harry M. Weaver, vice-president for research for the American Cancer Society, describe new developments in the laboratory hunt for the answer to cancer.
